Meet the Millstone at Eno Terra Restaurant

Special Farm to Table Fundraiser to Benefit Watershed Association

(August 23, 2010) Kingston NJ – Our land and water are intricately intertwined. To celebrate this amazing relationship, Terra Momo Restaurant Group is teaming up with the Stony Brook-Millstone Watershed Association, central New Jersey's first environmental group, for a special afternoon of food and fun at Eno Terra restaurant in Kingston, NJ.

On Sunday, September 19, from 2 to 7 p.m. the community is invited to enjoy local produce prepared by Eno Terra from their very own 1-acre farm, while enjoying an array of family-friendly activities in and around the Millstone River at the Delaware & Raritan Canal State Park in Kingston. Attendees can meet the aquatic insects of the Millstone River, enter an "all natural" boat race, make a fish print to take home and get a behind-the-scenes look at the Watershed Association's StreamWatch water testing. Plus, participants can take a tour of Eno Terra's Canal Farm or visit historic Rockingham (shuttle provided), enjoy a wine tasting, learn how to live "River-Friendly" and sign up for the Watershed Association's first-ever fall Stream Cleanups in Princeton and South Brunswick on September 25. Everyone who arrives by bicycle will receive a special prize.

A benefit for the Watershed Association, the event will celebrate our land and water. "What we do on our land has a direct impact on the health and quality of our water," said Jim Waltman, Watershed Association Executive Director. "Eno Terra sits at the heart of the Stony Brook-Millstone Watershed and with its 'eat local' approach is the perfect place to celebrate the harmony between land and water."

Carlo and Raoul Momo, co-founders of Terra Momo Restaurant Group, agree. "Eat local defines our cuisine and reminds us of the source of our raw ingredients," said Raoul Momo. "By cultivating these sources, Eno Terra supports local businesses, provides the real satisfaction of fresh and flavorful food and minimizes our impact on the environment. We are proud to support the Stony Brook-Millstone Watershed Association and its environmental mission."

Eno Terra will serve light fare, including hors d'oeuvres and dessert, by the Delaware & Raritan Canal throughout the afternoon. Inside Eno Terra, Executive Chef Christopher Albrecht will present a family-style feast, including hot and cold antipasti and a market grill course. This “farm fresh” dinner will be served in seatings starting at 3 p.m. and 5 p.m.

To attend, call Eno Terra at (609) 497-1777 to make a reservation. Fee: $49 per adult and $15 per child under 12 (children 5 years and under participate for free). Please specify the 3 p.m. or 5 p.m. dinner seating. Payment is taken in advance and no credit cards will be accepted at the door. All event profits benefit the Stony Brook-Millstone Watershed Association. Eno Terra is located at 4484 Route 27, Kingston NJ. Visit thewatershed.org and enoterra.com to learn more.

Interviews with Executive Director Jim Waltman and Terra Momo Restaurant Group co-founders Carlo and Raoul Momo are available upon request. Contact Gwen McNamara, Communications Manager, at (609) 737-3735 x16 or gmcnamara@thewatershed.org.

About the Watershed Association

The Stony Brook-Millstone Watershed Association, a member-supported nonprofit organization, protects the 265-square-mile region of central New Jersey drained by the Stony Brook and Millstone River – an area spanning 26 towns and five counties. Founded in 1949, the Watershed Association is central New Jersey’s first environmental group protecting clean water and the environment through conservation, advocacy, science and education.

About Eno Terra

Eno Terra is located at the Kingston Lock just off Route 27 in the historic Village of Kingston, NJ and is founded on the principle of regionalism and seasonality. The food menu is Italian in sensibility and features a wood-burning grill, while the wine list focuses on Italy, France, Spain and the United States. Chef Christopher Albrecht, a graduate of the Culinary Institute of America, combines 20 plus years of experience with Carlo and Raoul Momo, of the Terramomo Restaurant Group, to commit to minimizing the environmental impact and delivering a superior dining experience. Eno Terra is proud member of the Green Restaurant Association.
